General Carter:

I gave copies of the attached to Mr. Knoche for his information.

On Mr. Kirkpatrick's memo to you, I cut his hand-written note off.

Note: General Carter advised me on 25 April that Mr. Sheldon is handling this - neither General Carter nor I know how he, rather than Houston, got involved. Bly

Mr. Houston:

General Carroll called Mr. Kirkpatrick at 6:00 p.m., last night in regard to the review of the Stennis Committee report and recommended that the Agency and DIA coordinate their reviews so that they are requesting the deletion of the same material. General Carroll noted that there would probably be a lot of pressure to get the response back immediately and suggested that our representatives consult the first thing in the morning. Mr. Kirkpatrick told General Carroll that you would be the man representing the Agency.

Mr. Kirkpatrick passed all of the above in a memo to General Carter which we received this morning. Mr. Kirkpatrick ended his memo by saying that if you would call General Carroll's office today to get it coordinated, he (Mr. Kirkpatrick) thought it would be in the best interests of the Agency and DIA.

General Carter will be late in arriving at the office today, but I passed the above to him on the telephone at 9:00 and he asked that you get in touch with General Carroll's office as suggested by Mr. Kirkpatrick.

MEMORANDUM FOR: GENERAL CARTER

Joe Carroll called me at about 6:00 o'clock in regard to the review of the Stennis Committee report and recommended that the Agency and DIA coordinate their reviews so that they are requesting the deletion of the same material. Carroll noted that there would probably be a lot of pressure to get the response back immediately and suggested that our representatives consult the first thing in the morning. I told him that Larry Houston would be the man representing the Agency. (Perhaps it should be Ting Sheldon.) In any event, if one of them would call Carroll's office tomorrow to get it coordinated I think it would be in the best interests of the Agency and DIA.
